The 2016 Donald W. Reynolds Foundation Grantee Annual Meeting is open to a limited number of physicians from non-Reynolds Foundation sponsored schools. The meeting is funded by the Foundation, through its Geriatrics Education Coordinating Center grant, and organized by the Association of Directors of Geriatrics Academic Programs (ADGAP) and the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai.

The annual 2 ½ day meeting is for all levels of clinician educators in geriatrics and attracts thought leaders in the field. It focuses on developing leadership skills and professional development. Reynolds grantees have cultivated a collaborative atmosphere that promotes exchange of strategies to enhance geriatrics training, introduces advances in medical education, launches new geriatrics initiatives that catalyze mainstreaming the care of older adults. To view topics and presentations from past annual meetings, visit POGOe.org.

Physicians at all levels, from novice to experts in the field of geriatrics, are welcome to apply. Application submission deadline is Friday, July 22, 2016. Space is limited; first-come, first-served.
